Dear parents

It certainly has been a week of dodging showers and trying to get outside whenever we can - the rain always seems to know the wrong time to arrive: break and lunch times!

This week, we have been thinking about perseverance. I spoke to the children in assembly about Thomas Edison and JK Rowling, two people who had to persevere in order to become successful. We discussed how we should try and 'keep on going' even if things are tricky and 'try, try, try again'. We often talk about 'the power of yet' when faced with challenges, for example, 'I cannot do that...yet!'

Last night, we held our induction meeting for parents of next year's Reception class. As well as welcoming new parents, it was lovely to see so many familiar faces of our sibling parents. The children will begin to visit the school from next Friday, which is very exciting, and September will be here before we know it!

Please remember to express your interest, if you think you have time to be a part of the Friends of Felbridge (FoFPS) team next year Friends of Felbridge Primary School – Fill in form. As I mentioned previously, the more people who are able to volunteer, the wider the roles can be spread and the less time each person will need to give. Please help us to keep this important part of the school running in September.

Next Thursday, we say goodbye to Debbie Pitt as she retires from her role as a teaching assistant. During her 13 years at Felbridge, Debbie has supported and guided many children, through her kind and nurturing manner, making a great difference to those she has worked with. Debbie has been a great friend and colleague, and an invaluable member of our team, who will be missed by us all. We wish you all the very best for your retirement Debbie - enjoy all of those well-deserved holidays that you have planned!

I hope you all have a lovely weekend which hopefully will bring back some sunshine.

With best wishes

Emma Thorp
